Investigative Narrative Comments

Officer Chavez and Officer Tobias did not immediately go hands on the suspect due to his aggressive demeanor. Officers believed a UOF might occur and immediately requested Back-up to gather resources before detaining the suspect.

Officer Bonilla and Officer Manning are aware of the suspect holding an item with his hand but believed the item was not hard enough to cause physical harm. Officers formulate a plan to go hands on the suspect and detain him (Officer Bonilla's BWV 2:51 time marker). Officers did not communicate what they believe the suspect was holding.

Suspect turned around and threw the item at Officers as Officers approached suspect (Officer Arellano's BWV 6:47 time marker). Officer Arellano believed the item would cause physical harm to Officers and shot a bean bag round toward the suspect's abdomen area to stop the threat. The bean bag round hit the suspect's right thigh. Due to lag time from acquiring his sights on the target with his background cleared, Officer Arellano shot the bean bag at the same time Officer Bonilla grabbed the suspect, causing a crossfire situation (Officer Arellano's BWV 6:48 Time marker). Officer Arellano did not provide a verbal warning prior to shooting the bean bag due to the fluid and spontaneous actions from the suspect. The suspect immediately turned around and threw the item at Officers as Officers approached, giving Officer Arellano no time to give the verbal warning. I spoke with Officers about the importance of communicating with each other to prevent a crossfire situation. Also, to allow Officers more time to formulate a plan, including a verbal warning of the bean bag before Officers approach. Officers were receptive and understood the importance of communicating.

Sergeant Borunda #38727 and Sergeant Bendimez #41901 canvassed the area for witnesses and video cameras with negative results. The involved Officers were interviewed separately. All Officers statements were consistent with the UOF report.

Digital photographs of the suspect and UOF scene were taken and submitted in a Digital Disc to TID/ D# 0665101.

I advised the suspect of his rights per LAPD form 15.03. at scene in which he was unresponsive and refused to provide a statement. Additionally, Suspect refused to sign the authorization to release medical information.

The suspect had a pre-existing injury of a [REDACTED] as seen on Officer Chavez BWV (5:49 time marker). The suspect received approximately [REDACTED] consistent with a bean bag impact. There were no other observable injuries on the suspect. RA 94 (Dunn #420627 and Vadunkul #362408) transported the suspect to Cedar Sinai Hospital. Doctor Polanski treated the suspect for his injuries and confirmed the suspect's [REDACTED] was a pre-existing injury (MRN #203-269-08/2922-596-7151). The suspect was admitted to the hospital for the [REDACTED], not related to the UOF.

Officers released suspect at Cedar Sinai Hospital due to being admitted for pre-existing injury of [REDACTED]. Officers completed a vandalism report with the approval of Southwest Watch Commander Lt. Adkins #35881.

While chasing the suspect, Officer Vargas tripped and fell in the middle of the street and [REDACTED]. I/O did not take photos of her injuries.

Watch Commanders Insight

I, Lieutenant Scott Wilhelm, Serial No. 36358, Southwest Division Watch Commander reviewed this case. I reviewed the arrest report, the UOF investigation, the photos, BWV, DICVS, and the statements. I am providing this insight.

Note- The Use of Force Incident originated during an investigation of an Arson suspect. The primary unit, Officers Chavez and Tobias, were not involved in the Use of Force.

Officers Chavez and Tobias requested additional resources and walked after the suspect. Officers continuously broadcast their location as the suspect walked through traffic. Prior to additional resources arriving, the suspect turned and ran from the officers. Officers initially slowly continued walking after the suspect until additional officers arrived. Officers Chavez and Tobias directed responding units towards the suspect, who had now run out of sight.

Upon arriving at Adams and Longwood, a team of responding officers contacted the suspect. The suspect, making erratic movements and holding an unknown object in an elevated, baseball pitcher's throwing motion, refused to comply with the officers' commands.

Note- At this time, officers had formed a semi-circle near the suspect. Several officers can be heard issuing directives to the suspect, but the officers did not verbalize well amongst each other.

Officers Manning, Bonilla, Sarmiento, and Arellano were amongst the officers closing in on the suspect. Officer Arellano was equipped with a Bean Bag shotgun, and while he is first heard on his body worn video declaring, 'Bean Bag Up,' he made this declaration some ways away from most all other officers.

Without verbalizing to each other, Officers Manning and Bonilla seemed to both identify an opportunity to go hands on with the suspect. Both officers made forward movements towards the suspect to control him. Prior to the officers grabbing him, the suspect raised his left arm into a throwing position, Officer Arellano believed the suspect was going to throw the unknown object in his left hand at one of the officers, potentially causing great injury, Officer Arellano discharged his bean bag shotgun one time into the right leg of the suspect.

Note- Officer Arellano did not verbalize with his partners that he had the bean bag shotgun and was prepared to use it. The standard preparatory alert, 'Beanbag Ready!', was not issued.

Upon being struck with the Beanbag sock round, the suspect immediately stopped his erratic movements and was taken to the ground by officer Manning. Officers Manning, Vargas, Sarmiento, and Bonilla gained control of the suspect through bodyweight, firm grips, and handcuffing.

Sergeant Borunda responded to the scene and conducted a UOF investigation. Sergeant Borunda did not locate any witnesses.

I recommend the following:

Takedown, Firm Grip, Bodyweight- Manning: In Policy/ No Action for Tactics and UOF

Bodyweight, Firm Grips- Vargas: In Policy/ No Action for Tactics and UOF

Firm Grip- Sarmiento: In Policy/ No Action for Tactics and UOF

Firm Grip- Bonilla: In Policy/ No Action for Tactics and UOF

Beanbag Shotgun- Arellano: In Policy/ Training for Tactics and UOF, Use of Force Tactics Directive, Directive No. 6.4, 'Beanbag Shotgun,' dated September 2020.

The discharge of the Beanbag shotgun, from approximately 7', was an appropriate force response to the suspect's actions of preparing to imminently throw an object at officers. From Officer Arellano's perspective and statements, he believed that the suspect both had the capacity and intention of throwing an unknown object at officers. The discharge of a Beanbag shotgun at such proximity to the suspect and other officers has an increased risk of missing the intended target. In this incident though, Officer Arellano's strike was both true and effective.

Officer Arellano can clearly be heard declaring, "Beanbag Up!" when he first deploys it. He was a good distance away from most every other officer involved in the Use of Force when he made this declaration. Officer Arellano most likely assumed that all other officers observed the very distinguishable green colored shotgun as the team of officers was triangulating on the suspect, but during tactical and/or high stress situations, Officers have been known to succumb to tunnel vision. It would have helped all officers at-scene if Arellano would have verbalized that he was equipped with the beanbag and prepared to use it while he and the other officers were triangulating on the suspect. Officer Arellano also failed to admonish the suspect about the use of the beanbag shotgun and its possible effects on the suspect. While I agree with Officer Arellano's assessment that, in the moment he decided to use this force option (as the suspect raised his arm in a throwing motion at officers who were within a very short distance), he did not have time to declare the Use of Force admonishment, this mindset fails to consider earlier opportunities.

Additional:

Foot Pursuit Tactics- Chavez: Informal Training

Foot Pursuit Tactics- Tobias: Informal Training

While not directly involved in the Use of Force, the primary unit had a significant role in this incident. After first contacting the suspect, it is evident that the suspect had no intention of complying with the officer directives. Maintaining calm, the officers methodically moved towards the fleeing suspect while broadcasting their travel. During the pursuit however, the suspect can be seen on the officers' body-worn video increasing his tempo and desire to avoid detention. While continuing to maintain their deliberate demeanor, the officers did not seem to have the same will as the suspect in increasing pace. The officers continue to methodically move towards the rapidly fleeing suspect, broadcasting his movements, until he is out of sight. At about this time additional units arrive at scene and the officers give their last, best, known direction of travel. The responding officers speed away towards the suspect while the primary continues to methodically move forward. Eventually, an understanding of the moment seems to come upon the officers, and they can be seen upping their pace from a slow methodical walk into a jog. Officers Chavez and Tobias maintaining such an enervated pursuit, allowed units to catch the suspect and negotiate through his erratic behavior without their incident knowledge or experience.

I recommend officers Chavez and Tobias receive Informal Divisional Training on Use of Force Tactics Directive, Directive No. 3.2, "Foot Pursuit Concepts," dated October 2013.

Watch Commanders Insight

I, Lieutenant Scott Wilhelm, Serial No. 36358, Southwest Division Watch Commander reviewed this case. I reviewed the arrest report, the UOF investigation, the photos, BWV, DICVS, and the statements. I am providing this insight.

Upon being struck with the Beanbag sock round, the suspect immediately stopped his erratic movements and was taken to the ground by officer Manning. Officers Manning, Vargas, Sarmiento, and Bonilla gained control of the suspect through bodyweight, firm grips, and handcuffing.

Sergeant Borunda responded to the scene and conducted a UOF investigation. Sergeant Borunda did not locate any witnesses.

I recommend the following:

Takedown, Firm Grip, Bodyweight- Manning: In Policy/ No Action for Tactics and UOF

Firm Grip- Sarmiento: In Policy/ No Action for Tactics and UOF

It would have helped all officers at-scene if Arellano would have verbalized that he was equipped with the beanbag and prepared to use it while he and the other officers were triangulating on the suspect. Officer Arellano also failed to admonish the suspect about the use of the beanbag shotgun and its possible effects on the suspect. While I agree with Officer Arellano's assessment that, in the moment he decided to use this force option (as the suspect raised his arm in a throwing motion at officers who were within a very short distance), he did not have time to declare the Use of Force admonishment, this mindset fails to consider earlier opportunities.

Foot Pursuit Tactics- Chavez: Informal Training

Foot Pursuit Tactics- Tobias: Informal Training

While not directly involved in the Use of Force, the primary unit had a significant role in this incident. After first contacting the suspect, it is evident that the suspect had no intention of complying with the officer directives. Maintaining calm, the officers methodically moved towards the fleeing suspect while broadcasting their travel. During the pursuit however, the suspect can be seen on the officers' body-worn video increasing his tempo and desire to avoid detention. While continuing to maintain their deliberate demeanor, the officers did not seem to have the same will as the suspect in increasing pace. The officers continue to methodically move towards the rapidly fleeing suspect, broadcasting his movements, until he is out of sight. At about this time additional units arrive at scene and the officers give their last, best, known direction of travel. The responding officers speed away towards the suspect while the primary continues to methodically move forward. Eventually, an understanding of the moment seems to come upon the officers, and they can be seen upping their pace from a slow methodical walk into a jog. Officers Chavez and Tobias maintaining such an enervated pursuit, allowed units to catch the suspect and negotiate through his erratic behavior without their incident knowledge or experience.

I recommend officers Chavez and Tobias receive Informal Divisional Training on Use of Force Tactics Directive, Directive No. 3.2, "Foot Pursuit Concepts," dated October 2013.

Finding Review Comments: I, Captain James Lopez, Commanding Officer, Southwest Patrol, have reviewed the Arrest Report, use of force report, and BWV. I concur with the findings of Lieutenant Wilhelm I recommend that Officer Manning's Use of Force be classified as IN POLICY; however, during review officer's lack of communication, and lack of command and control contributed to possible cross fire and the deployment of the beanbag within proximity of officers. Watch Commanders Insight

I, Lieutenant Scott Wilhelm, Serial No. 36358, Southwest Division Watch Commander reviewed this case. I reviewed the arrest report, the UOF investigation, the photos, BWV, DICVS, and the statements. I am providing this insight.

Note- The Use of Force Incident originated during an investigation of an Arson suspect. The primary unit, Officers Chavez and Tobias, were not involved in the Use of Force.

Officers Chavez and Tobias requested additional resources and walked after the suspect. Officers continuously broadcast their location as the suspect walked through traffic. Prior to additional resources arriving, the suspect turned and ran from the officers. Officers initially slowly continued walking after the suspect until additional officers arrived. Officers Chavez and Tobias directed responding units towards the suspect, who had now run out of sight.

Upon arriving at Adams and Longwood, a team of responding officers contacted the suspect. The suspect, making erratic movements and holding an unknown object in an elevated, baseball pitcher's throwing motion, refused to comply with the officers' commands.

Note- At this time, officers had formed a semi-circle near the suspect. Several officers can be heard issuing directives to the suspect, but the officers did not verbalize well amongst each other.

Officers Manning, Bonilla, Sarmiento, and Arellano were amongst the officers closing in on the suspect. Officer Arellano was equipped with a Bean Bag shotgun, and while he is first heard on his body worn video declaring, 'Bean Bag Up,' he made this declaration some ways away from most all other officers.

Without verbalizing to each other, Officers Manning and Bonilla seemed to both identify an opportunity to go hands on with the suspect. Both officers made forward movements towards the suspect to control him. Prior to the officers grabbing him, the suspect raised his left arm into a throwing position, Officer Arellano believed the suspect was going to throw the unknown object in his left hand at one of the officers, potentially causing great injury, Officer Arellano discharged his bean bag shotgun one time into the right leg of the suspect.

Note- Officer Arellano did not verbalize with his partners that he had the bean bag shotgun and was prepared to use it. The standard preparatory alert, 'Beanbag Ready!', was not issued.

Upon being struck with the Beanbag sock round, the suspect immediately stopped his erratic movements and was taken to the ground by officer Manning. Officers Manning, Vargas, Sarmiento, and Bonilla gained control of the suspect through bodyweight, firm grips, and handcuffing.

Sergeant Borunda responded to the scene and conducted a UOF investigation. Sergeant Borunda did not locate any witnesses.

I recommend the following:

Takedown, Firm Grip, Bodyweight- Manning: In Policy/ No Action for Tactics and UOF

Bodyweight, Firm Grips- Vargas: In Policy/ No Action for Tactics and UOF

Firm Grip- Sarmiento: In Policy/ No Action for Tactics and UOF

Firm Grip- Bonilla: In Policy/ No Action for Tactics and UOF

Beanbag Shotgun- Arellano: In Policy/ Training for Tactics and UOF, Use of Force Tactics Directive, Directive No. 6.4, 'Beanbag Shotgun,' dated September 2020.

The discharge of the Beanbag shotgun, from approximately 7', was an appropriate force response to the suspect's actions of preparing to imminently throw an object at officers. From Officer Arellano's perspective and statements, he believed that the suspect both had the capacity and intention of throwing an unknown object at officers. The discharge of a Beanbag shotgun at such proximity to the suspect and other officers has an increased risk of missing the intended target. In this incident though, Officer Arellano's strike was both true and effective.

DR Type: Use of Force Report

Officer Arellano can clearly be heard declaring, "Beanbag Up!" when he first deploys it. He was a good distance away from most every other officer involved in the Use of Force when he made this declaration. Officer Arellano most likely assumed that all other officers observed the very distinguishable green colored shotgun as the team of officers was triangulating on the suspect, but during tactical and/or high stress situations, Officers have been known to succumb to tunnel vision. It would have helped all officers at-scene if Arellano would have verbalized that he was equipped with the beanbag and prepared to use it while he and the other officers were triangulating on the suspect. Officer Arellano also failed to admonish the suspect about the use of the beanbag shotgun and its possible effects on the suspect. While I agree with Officer Arellano's assessment that, in the moment he decided to use this force option (as the suspect raised his arm in a throwing motion at officers who were within a very short distance), he did not have time to declare the Use of Force admonishment, this mindset fails to consider earlier opportunities.
